

A woman driven by obsession ...

“A compelling tale woven from the eternal conflict between our need to belong, to be rooted, and our desire to escape those bonds and follow our passions.”

Judith Kirscht, novelist, The Camera's Eye

From the moment Griff turns up in his dusty red pickup truck, Selene is infatuated. Unfortunately, she's married to Alex—Griff's brother

Will Selene disregard her own scruples and risk everything—the security of her marriage and the husband she still loves, her career, her home—for an elusive man she passionately desires but who may leave as suddenly as he turned up?

Both The Second Mrs. Price and Toni's first novel, One Who Loves, are intensely personal explorations of intimacy and obsession within the context of strong family ties. Toni lives in Los Angeles and is working on her next novel. Sign up for Toni's posts, news, and writing updates at tonifuhrman.com.
